Notes: 1. Prepare a List of Research Achievements on A4 paper in the above format using a PC.

2. Follow the instructions below.

[1] Publications authored and translated

Indicate names of authors, editors, and publishers (including their location), publication date (month and year), and specify a category for each publication (sole authorship, joint authorship or chapter contribution [please specify chapters contributed]).

[2] Academic papers

List academic papers according to the classifications (1) - (3).

Indicate all author names (the applicant's name should be underlined), the title of the paper, the title of the academic journal (do not abbreviate), volume number, publication date (year), and inclusive pages. Also indicate whether the papers have been reviewed or not.

- *1 Indicate a “✘” mark in front of the titles of the papers related to the doctoral dissertation.
- *2 If you had the entire paper reviewed, indicate “Completely reviewed” at the end.
- *3 You can list submitted papers only if being accepted. In this case, indicate “Accepted” at the end and submit a proof of acceptance or a related document.
- *4 As for proceedings, list papers regardless of whether domestic conferences or international.

[3] History of academic conference presentations

List all author names (the applicant's name should be underlined), the title of the presentation, the presentation style (oral or poster), the name of the academic conference, and the date of presentation (month and year). If you have given many academic conference presentations, list up to 10 major presentations.

[4] Other

List noteworthy accomplishments and experience, such as awards and intellectual property development.
